Strategic Communication

Two strategic communication pathways converge on this goal: on one side, the product focus, on the other side, an optimal audience engagement

Scenario, Analysis & Horizon Scanning

As a starting point of our integrated strategic communication programs, we analyse the competitive landscape with the customer, leveraging our internal knowledge and expertise with a solid network of experts. Available data are complemented with specific research activities to map-out the competitive scenario through surveys and targeted interviews.

Medical Writing

Medical Writing represents a core activity of our team with our experienced members at both international and national levels and a distinct bilingual ability to manage manuscripts in both English and Italian languages.

We manage all the steps of manuscript development in full compliance with the latest GPP (Good Publication Practices) and ICMJE (International Committee of Medical Journal Editors) guidelines till its publication, including:

- Full manuscript preparation from the initial to the final draft
- ASEO (Academic Search Engine Optimization) of the wordings
- Development of figures and tables
- Reference formatting
- Submission to the journal editorial board
- Post peer-review process management including rebuttal letter preparation

Medical Writing

We can also help the clients and authors in specific activities: data assessment, analysis and organization of the raw data, draft manuscript assessment, English language editing, and everything needed to publish the manuscript in the shortest possible time when fast-track is available.

We also help the clients in the preparation of their presentations at international and national venues, by preparing their abstracts, posters and supporting them in the delivery of their oral presentations.

We develop training programs on anything pertinent to data analysis, medical writing and scientific publications, targeted to clinicians and to medical affairs staff of Life Sciences industries. This activity is developed under the umbrella of the AboutAcademy brand.

Medical Communication

Choosing the most appropriate communication tools is the last, fundamental activity in a well-designed strategic communication program. In HPS we have developed a variety of tools for a thorough multichannel communication, by combining our medico-scientific experience and scientific journalism with the capability to develop unique and effective products.

AboutPharmacoeconomics

The journal publishes pharmacoeconomic and health technology assessment studies relevant for clinicians, hospital pharmacists and payors fostering a Value-Based Healthcare

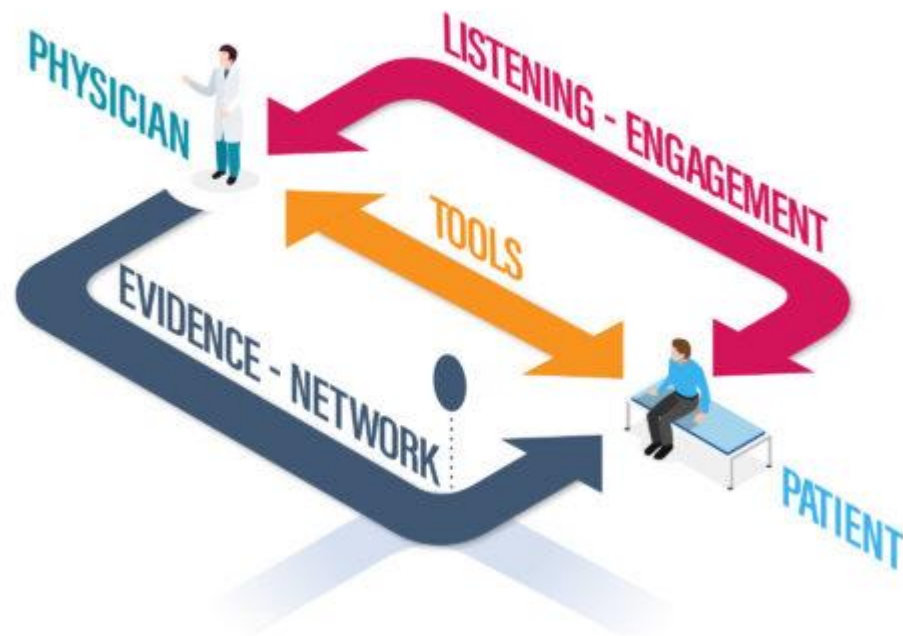

Innovations In

Reviews focused on innovation in medicine, both from a drug and medical device perspective

Digital & Clinical Education

In HPS, we develop digital & clinical education programs focused on all three pathways, leveraging our expertise and a network of specialists in many different areas.

The key digital pathways can be clustered in 3 main areas:

Research and scientific dissemination, summarized by Evidence and Network

Physician-patient interaction summarized by Listening and Engagement

The area of digital diagnostics, therapy and follow-up, summarized by Tools

Awareness & Advocacy

HPS can develop a variety of projects in the Awareness & Advocacy space. Articulated multi-stakeholder projects that require the orchestration of different profiles stem from these activities.

Typically, the projects include the organization of one or more discussion tables aiming at:

Align participants around the scope of the project

Make stakeholders aware of specific topics and unmet needs

Define the priority of topics in scope

Define one or more outputs that help disseminating the stakeholder's point of view

These discussion tables are often followed by editorial outputs and presented during seminars or events happening at important venues

Corporate Events

HPS creates exclusive meeting opportunities for healthcare professionals during three major events focused on new trends in the Life Sciences world, Digital innovation and Medical Devices.

AboutPharma Digital Awards is the most prestigious award in Italy for projects that add value to the digital healthcare space with the ultimate aim to make our national health system more technological, innovative and sustainable

The About Medical Devices is an yearly event focused on key topics pertinent to the Medical Devices space and targeted to key stakeholders such as companies, institutions, logistics and technological players, legal and consulting firms, insurance companies

The AboutFuture Leaders' Talks is a not-to-be missed yearly event where the role of leaders in pharma, biotech, medical devices and other Life Sciences companies is discussed

The AboutPharma ESG Summit is an event that explores sustainability within the healthcare space, with a specific focus on issues and challenges in the ESG (Environmental, Social, and Governance) framework

Informazione Scientifica is the conference dedicated to updates and innovations in the field of pharmaceutical scientific information
